

Commended Radios:

These were among the judge's top designs and only narrowly missed out on the prize.

Camping Radio

Designed by Aimee Pakoti

"When asked to create a design of a radio that captures the New Zealand culture what instantly sprung to mind was the outdoors. Us Kiwi's are very outdoor orientated. I come from sunny Hawke's Bay and this is one of the most popular of places to holiday over the summer. Everyone is familiar with the sight of a trailer laden with camping equipment holding up traffic on the motorway.

Camping is the best way to experience this countries natural beauty up close and personal. And the choices of sites around the country are huge. With that being said I believe that camping captures New Zealand's culture beautifully. My tent radio exemplifies this aspect, and 'sounds like us!'"